

Newsletter, Volume 2

Welcome to the October, 2014 issue of the Bonneville County Heritage Association Newsletter. We had excellent feedback on our first issue, and we hope you will find this, our second issue, just as interesting and informative. For our Autumn issue, we are featuring an article on the history of our largest Idaho Falls park, Tautphaus, written by Davidjohn Stosich and based on the presentation he gave for our "Parks of Idaho Falls" presentation on September 13. You can test your Bonneville County knowledge with our popular Bonneville County Quiz by David Nipper. We end with some Idaho Falls downtown nostalgia for those who miss the "good old days". As always, we welcome ideas and comments concerning what you would like to see in future issues. Please e-mail comments to: www.bonnevilleheritage.org or linbeck@live.com

TOUCH THE PAST AND ENGAGE THE FUTURE

By Ann Rydalch, Chair Bonneville County Heritage Association

On the fourth Monday of each month, the Bonneville County Heritage Association board members meet at Rusios to discuss how we can provide meaningful information and activities for the people in Bonneville County so that everyone can "touch the past and engage the future".

We are excited to present "History in Print" on Wed. Oct. 15, 2014 at 7:30 p.m., at University Place Auditorium, 1776 Science Center Drive in Idaho Falls. This free event will feature presentations by Post Register publisher, Roger Plothow, about the history of the Post Register and Jason Harris, manager of Harris Publishing giving a history of the magazine world he writes about.

Board member, Davidjohn Stosich is planning entertainment for this event. And board member RoseMarie Peterson will have a great silent auction for people to enjoy during the intermission of this event.

Our plans have already started forming for the year 2015. A question from a friend of mine, Diana Yates, regarding what is the oldest home and building in Bonneville County has sparked our research to determine an answer to that question. On Sat. Sept. 12, 2015 we will provide an answer to that question with a Centennial Treasures Tour of those oldest homes/buildings, selected from our research.

Already we are making plans for "Idaho Day" with a program scheduled for March 4, 2015 at the Colonial Theatre in Idaho Falls. Our sponsor for this event is US Bank. This annual celebration will happen because of legislation passed by Representative Linden Bateman establishing March 4 as Idaho Day with celebrations throughout Idaho. "We all love Idaho, stated Rep. Bateman. From the sequin serenity of Lake Coeur d'Alene to the thousand shades of green along the Loche, Salmon, and Clearwater, to the mighty roar of Shoshone Falls, the pristine tranquility of Big Springs, and the turquoise blue of Bear Lake, there is no place like Idaho."

As we look further into 2015, we are preparing for a program, "Dusty Roads", that will give the history of the stagecoach era, with stops that happened in Bonneville County as well as musical entertainment and this program will be held at the Colonial Theatre tentatively scheduled for Oct. 7, 2015. Our sponsor for this event at the Colonial Theatre is US Bank.

We have a rich and inspirational history in Bonneville County and it is our hope to discover these various treasures so that all of Bonneville County can enjoy and learn about this great heritage. Visit our website – www.bonnevilleheritage.org, and become involved as we go along on this journey together.

SO YOU THINK YOU KNOW BONNEVILLE COUNTY?

Here's a Quick Quiz

By David Nipper, BCHA Webmaster

(Hint: Most of the answers can be researched on the Bonneville Heritage Website - http://bonnevilleheritage.org- or on Google Maps)

1. In 1904, a letter addressed to Ako, Idaho would have been delivered to a town we now know by a different name. What is it now called?

2. Until recently, there was a ZCMI store in Idaho Falls. Where was the first ZCMI store in our area located?

3. In what decade did farmers in Bonneville County first bring in a crop of wheat?

4. In 1903, there was a street in Idaho Falls that extended from Western Ave. to Cottage, located North of Raymond Street and South of 2nd Street. Several important businesses were located on this street. What was it called then?

5. On April 24, 1903, A great ceremony was held to lay the cornerstone of a factory building. This construction would create a town, first called Centerville, which would blossom into a hub of economic activity that lasted until 1978. What was the building?

6. Regarding the laying of that cornerstone, who was the official who troweled the stone in place?

- a. The Master of the local Masonic Lodge
- b. Mayor Curley Bowen of Idaho Falls
- c. Senator William Borah
- d. The President of the LDS Church, Joseph F. Smith
- 7. Which was created first and which last?

Palisades Reservoir

Ririe Reservoir

Jackson Lake

Quiz, continued

8. In 1909, there were two streets in Idaho Falls shown on the map with the name "Short Street". One still has that name today, but the other is just an isolated bit of pavement unconnected and unmaintained. Where was this other "Short Street?

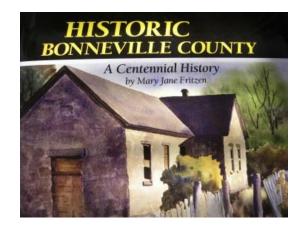

9. In 1919 The town of Ozone, Idaho built a new school building. This building still exists, but was moved to what location?

10. The railroad from Pocatello to Butte, Montana crossed the Snake River at Idaho Falls. In 1887, the rails of the entire stretch were significantly altered in one day. What was changed?

(Answers to quiz on Page 8)

BCHA is going to create a Youth Program. This will probably be initiated when the next school year starts. We would like the youth to become members of BCHA. Their enthusiasm, interests, and ideas would be a great asset to BCHA. We would like to have several contests; e.g., poster contest, history hunt with written article contest, a special Youth Evening Program and other events directed specifically to the youth.

The Bonneville County Heritage Association (BCHA) began in 2004 when Mary Jane Fritzen gathered a few volunteers, including County Commissioner Dave Radford, and organized the BCHA to begin making plans to commemorate the County Centennial of February 7, 1911. The year-long Centennial celebration ended in November of 2011.

Now, it is our plan to have BCHA continue its voluntary efforts to promote county history and its people. We need your help to do this.

- Your commitment to join BCHA will ensure promotion of the county history and its people for generations to come.
- Members will receive special invitations to BCHA events.
- Members will receive the BCHA newsletter.
- Members will receive special invitations to tours of the County Treasures developed during the Centennial celebration.
- Members will have the opportunity to suggest promotion of specific county heritage projects, its people and its published books.
- Members will help ensure youth involvement.
- Members may serve on committees or as officers.

TAUTPHAUS PARK

THE TAUTPHAUS DREAM

In 1881, Charles Tautphaus visited Eagle Rock, Idaho. Eagle Rock at that time was a dry, windswept, unleveled, foreboding sort of a waste land that only grew sturdy sage brush and jack rabbits. Eagle Rock had come into existence when Matt Taylor erected a bridge across the Snake River in 1865 and entrepreneurs started businesses to cater to the travelers and, after, to the locals who were coming to the area. Limited farming existed along the creeks.

Always an entrepreneur, Tautphaus could see the potential of the area once water from the river could flow onto the thirsty, fertile volcanic soil. He couldn't get Eagle Rock out of his head and decided he had to have some of it. In 1884, the Tautphauses and a partner, Mr. Moffitt, came down from Butte City, Montana, found the ground they wanted and filed homestead rights on three sections of land south of Eagle Rock. The cost was $1.25 per acre, with only 25 cents down and the remaining balance due in five years. Can you imagine: a square mile of land for only $800 with only $160 down? Real value would only come when it could be irrigated.

Apparently, Moffitt bought his land as a favor to Tautphaus, because as soon as he got title, he sold to Tautphaus. Tautphaus later purchased another 160 acres adjoining his other land, giving him a total of 2,080 acres equaling 3 1/4 square miles.

In 1885, Tautphaus bought a building on Eagle Rock Street which was purchased for $3,000. This housed a meat market and the hall upstairs was used for community events. Mr. Tautphaus was living in Butte City, Montana at this time.

In 1886, the entire Tautphaus family arrived in the area, including Charles and Sarah and their five daughters, Charlotte Gertrude "Lottie", Kathrine "Kate", Mary "Minni", Elizabeth "Lillie" and Sarah Josephine "Josie", who were aged from 4 to 16. They moved to their ranch south of Eagle Rock, with a dream to develop an oasis in the middle of the desert, including a large lake, with trees, orchards, flowers and pastures. The lake was to be the focal point of the family dream oasis. Remember, there were no dams on the river, nor man-made lakes or reservoirs at that time. Charles lived to see the dream of a desert oasis come true.

In 1909, the Idaho Falls Booster Club purchased from widow Sarah Tautphaus a 160 acre tract to be converted to a city park, public amusement grounds, fair grounds and race track at a cost of $35,000, with an anticipated additional $48,000 by selling shares at $10.00 each. One hundred acres was to be sold in small acre tracts.

A huge grandstand was erected with a race track in front, a band stand, rest rooms, fountains and other amenities. A grand opening of the new Tautphaus Park was held on July 25, 1910 in conjunction with Pioneer Days. 4,000 to 5,000 people attended the double celebration. It was a must-see for all visitors to the area.

THE RENO ERA

Frank Reno acquired and developed a 2,000 acre spread now known as the Reno Ranch 20 miles northwest of Mud Lake. Reno developed vast sheep, horse and cattle holdings in Lemhi, Clark and Jefferson Counties.

In 1912, Reno probably leased rather than purchased Tautphaus Park from the Idaho Falls Booster Club for use as a show place for his award winning Cotswold and Hampshire sheep and his shorthorn cattle. Tautphaus Park now became known as Reno Park.

Sometime later, the Booster Club transferred their interest in the park to the Bonneville County Fair Association, who later abandoned the property in 1914 because of overwhelming debt. This voided Reno's interest in the park and the property reverted back to Sarah Tautphaus.

In 1915, Frank Reno purchased the park from Sarah Tautphaus and announced plans "to build a handsome residence and improve the property and assist in every way in conducting the best county fair and livestock show in the state".

Times were great and Reno grew his vast empire to encompass holdings in three counties. His son Torrey once said that his dad often deposited $100,000 in his checking account. Unfortunately, times changed for the worse. Shortly after World War I, the economy faltered and the once vast Reno empire completely collapsed and left them with nothing. Reno was never able to recover and died in 1925.

In 1920, the Reno Park Property reverted once more to Sarah Tautphaus.

In 1943, a group of citizens headed by John H. Senter wanted to memorialize the contributions the Tautphaus family had made to the area and petitioned the city council to restore the Tautphaus name to the park. John Senter, along with E.P. Henry, had been officers in the Cedar Hollow and Foot Hills Canal Companies that were formed in 1888 and subsequently acquired by the Idaho Canal Company in 1894. The name was restored and our city park has been known as "Tautphaus" ever since. It has seen many changes and improvements over the years, but still remains a beautiful showplace of which we can all enjoy and be proud.

1. Ucon, Idaho

2. About where the Idaho Falls Power offices are located (in the shadow of the city water tower), on what was then the West end of Railroad Ave. This was later called Eagle Rock Street, but it was eliminated during the renovation that created the current Idaho Falls Library.

3. In the mid-1870s, settlers on Willow Creek raised the first acre of wheat in the County.

4. It was called Front Street. This became Broadway shortly thereafter. Raymond Street was called many things, including Bridge St. and Market St., but it was eliminated when the area was renovated. Second Street became A street when the "numbered streets" gained enough prominence to cause confusion. Western Ave became Memorial Drive, and Cottage was eliminated when Yellowstone Ave. was extended through that area.

5. The Sugar Factory at the town that was later named Lincoln.

6. D. The President of the LDS Church, Joseph F. Smith

7. Jackson Lake, then Palisades Reservoir, then Ririe Reservoir

8. The Idaho Register map of 1909 shows it (along with many other streets and house lots that only existed in the mind's eye) between Crowley and Shelly streets, West of Fremont Ave. The pavement is still visible in satellite images, and can be seen off the Greenbelt path north of the John's Hole Bridge and South of the Northwind building.

9. On the grounds of the Ammon Elementary School, in Ammon, ID.

10. On July 24th, 1887, teams of men positioned every six miles along the track changed the track spacing from narrow gauge to standard gauge. The majority of the preparations had started the year before, but the actual change was done in one day.
