TOUCH THE PAST AND ENGAGE THE FUTURE

By Ann Rydalch, Chair
Bonneville County Heritage Association (BCHA)

Welcome to each of you reading this newsletter. Let me encourage all of you to join with us in our monthly BCHA board meetings. These meetings have changed and are now held the second Wednesday of each month, noon to about 1 pm, at Johnny Carino's on Hitt Road, where we discuss and plan for our activities. I want to also encourage you to become an active member of BCHA for only $10 per year. The membership money is used towards our activities and our student contests. You can go on our website, www.bonnevilleheritage.org, and join with us.

The next Idaho Day Celebration will be held Monday, March 5, 2018, at the Colonial Theater in Idaho Falls, and is being sponsored by the Idaho National Laboratory on behalf of corporate funds from Battelle Energy Alliance. Our Bronze sponsors are the Bank of Commerce, Johnson Brothers and Richard Groberg Realty. The silent auction, under the direction of RoseMarie Doxey, will begin at 6 pm in the Carr Gallery and the program at 7 pm in the theater. The State theme for this year is Idaho Day 2018 – Idaho Remembers World War 1, in recognition of the 100th anniversary of the armistice ending World War 1 on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918. This program will highlight and pay tribute to all veterans as well. A special film, written by Linden Bateman and David Nipper and filmed by Paul Jenkins of Intermountain Film & Videos, will be shown. Hero awards will be presented to Alturas International Academy, the American Legion, Steve Carr and his service to the American Red Cross, and to Jim Jones, former Idaho Attorney General, Former Idaho Supreme Court Justice & decorated U.S. Army Veteran of the Vietnam War. This annual celebration happens because of legislation passed by Representative Linden Bateman establishing March 4 as Idaho Day with celebrations throughout Idaho.

Another highlight of our Idaho Day celebration will be hearing from the winners of our student contests. BCHA is working hard to encourage young people to be interested in their heritage by sponsoring programs specifically for them, such as the student contests. Todd Brown, Dist. #91 Curriculum Coordinator and BCHA board member chairs the student contest program and announces the winners of the student contests and their cash prizes, with several of those winners giving their presentations during the Idaho Day program.

Join with us as we attempt to preserve the memories of our state and our county.

A NEW MUSEUM IS COMING and Can Use Some Help!

The Quilt Heritage Museum is soon to be the newest member of the local museum family. The Museum board has been working in Eastern Idaho for about 10 years, accumulating the resources needed to acquire a brick and mortar home. This should become a reality within the next two years. We will be expanding our quilt collection and augmenting it with quilts from within the local community both for display and study. The museum is a 501(c)3 organization which seeks to preserve quilts and educate people about this heritage art form with all its rich history and sociological importance in Idaho. We are dedicated to supporting the individuals and organizations that make quilting a contemporary force in Idaho. We hope you will come visit when our doors open.

The Quilt Heritage Museum is creating a Quilt Resources data base for Eastern Idaho. We are looking for information about area quilters who we can profile. We are compiling quilt-related information of historical interest. We are keeping a file of quilts that may be available for loan for our future exhibits and/or lectures. With your knowledge of local people and history would you be able to assist us?

The information you give us does not obligate you to anything. We do not share your information without your express permission. If you would like to help us with quilts or data, or know of anyone else who might be interested, we would be immensely appreciative. Leave word at either of the following contacts, and we will get back to you. From a shared love of history, we look forward to working with you.

BCHA – WHY BECOME A MEMBER

Website: www.bonnevilleheritage.org

The Bonneville County Heritage Association (BCHA) began in 2004 when Mary Jane Fritzen gathered a few volunteers, including County Commissioner Dave Radford, and organized the BCHA to begin making plans to commemorate the County Centennial of February 7, 1911. The year-long Centennial celebration ended in November of 2011.

Now, it is our plan to have BCHA continue its voluntary efforts to promote county history and its people. We need your help to do this.

- Your commitment to join BCHA will ensure promotion of the county history and its people for generations to come.
- Members will receive special invitations to BCHA events.
- Members will receive the BCHA newsletter.
- Members will receive special invitations to tours of the County Treasures developed during the Centennial celebration.
- Members will have the opportunity to suggest promotion of specific county heritage projects, its people and its published books.
- Members will help ensure youth involvement.
- Members may serve on committees or as officers.

“D I” Block To Be Vacated After More Than A Century Of History

By Mary Jane Fritzen

1895. Enough Mormons had come to the rural areas around Idaho Falls that a stake [like diocese] was formed here by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. It was named Bingham Stake, because the town was then in Bingham County. Bingham Stake’s headquarters were in Iona, the home of its president James E. Steele.

Eagle Rock Ward [like parish] was located in newly-named Idaho Falls. James E. Steele purchased the block bounded by Park and Capital Avenues and E and F Streets for $300.00. A rock chapel was built on the corner of Park Ave. and E Street. The rest of the block was available for children to play or for picnicking.

1915. Bingham Stake moved its headquarters to Idaho Falls. A stake tabernacle was built on E St. and Capital Ave., just west of the rock chapel. For several years this auditorium was used for various community events as well as for church services.

1937. The rock chapel was torn down in preparation for construction of a new Idaho Falls First Ward chapel, completed in 1943 beside the tabernacle. Many remember the “tab dances” in about the 1950s as the upper floor of the tabernacle became a dance floor on Saturday nights.

In about 1972 that building was razed and Deseret Industries was built on the location. Other Church facilities— Distribution Center and Employment Center—operated on the east side of the DI. Now that the DI is moving to its new location, 2885 E. 17th Street in Ammon, with grand opening March 22-24, the historic block will be vacated, but memories will long remain.
